1. This application contains sequence disclosures that are encompassed by the definitions for nucleotide and/or amino acid sequences set forth in 37 C.F.R. § 1.821(a)(1) and (a)(2). However, this application fails to comply with the requirements of 37 C.F.R. § 1.821-1.825 for the reason(s) set forth on the attached Notice to Comply with Requirements for Patent Applications Containing Nucleotide Sequence and/or Amino Acid Sequence Disclosures.

Applicant is requested to return a copy of the attached Notice to Comply with the response to this action.

- 2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. § 121 and 37 C.F.R. § 1.499:
 - I. An expression system for the production of erythropoietin (EPO), EPO nucleic acids employed therein, methods of making EPO proteins, and the proteins made in the expression system, upon which all of claims 1-21 are readable.
 - II. An expression system for the production of Factor VIII and methods of making Factor VIII proteins, upon which claims 18-21 are readable.
 - III. An expression system for the production of TPA and methods of making TPA proteins, upon which claims 18-21 are readable.

Because this application was filed under 35 U.S.C. § 371, the PCT Unity of Invention standard is applicable to the instant claims. 37 C.F.R. § 1.499.

Subsection (d) of 37 C.F.R. § 1.475, "Unity of invention before the International Searching Authority, the International Preliminary Examining Authority and during the national stage," provides:

If multiple products, processes of manufacture or uses are claimed, the first invention of the category first mentioned in the claims of the application and the first recited invention of each of the other categories related thereto will be considered as the main invention in the claims, see PCT Article 17(3)(a) and 37 C.F.R. § 1.476(c).

Accordingly, the main invention in the instant application comprises an expression system for the production of EPO, the corresponding recombinant reagents, methods of using them to make EPO, and the EPO made thereby. As evidenced by WO 89/03877 (cited and discussed in the International Preliminary Examination Report, PCT/IPEA/409), the expression of human proteins in avian expression systems, which is the only feature shared by all of groups I-III, is not per se novel and thus does not constitute a special technical feature which defines an advance over the prior art within the meaning of PCT Rule 13.2. Inventions I-III are consequently not so linked as to form a single inventive concept as required by PCT Rule 13.1. Pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.475(d), the DO/US considers that the systems for the production of the subsequently recited products, viz., TPA and Factor VIII, do not correspond to the main invention. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is accordingly proper.
